How this rota would work from January 2027, and how it compares with today's link

Prepared 8 Nov 2026 · every figure but the description under the name is calculated from the rota

PROPOSAL

Balanced V5

Early weeks built from 06:20 and 08:00 starts, a 15:45 closer every weekday, and 14 days' leave buys 30 days off, as today

CODE	MB-26-V5
FINGERPRINT	ded4a15f
SET AGAINST	today's 20-week link
CREATED	5 Nov 2026

IN SHORT

Balanced V5 meets all 9 December staffing rules and stays inside every hard limit. For staff, the biggest gains are about 12 full weekends off a year (today 10) and never more than 5 days in a row in the fixed duties (today 7). The main trade-offs: more six-day weeks (3, today 1); and more single rest days, which are not a two-day break (about 22 a year each, today 10).

For discussion, not a decision. This proposal has not yet been through the roster office. Still to settle: which link is used — colleagues' views come first — and then who starts on which line; the rota does not say who works which week.

What it takes: 26 people, 6 more than today's 20 · 5 cover weeks for leave and sickness · 10 on duty every Sunday (today 8; the rules ask for 10) — 83h 30m of Sunday overtime across the whole link each week (today 68h 15m).

Can it work?

Does it meet the December staffing rules?

9 of 9

rules met

today's link meets 4 · each rule on page 6

Can it be run within the hard limits?

Yes

inside every hard limit

shortest gap 13h 50m (limit 12h) · most days in a row 5, up to 10 if a cover week falls badly (limit 13) · 35-hour contract exact · 218.6 days a year (limit 219)

Any avoidable fatigue warnings?

none in the fixed duties

today's link has 4 · up to 4 (today 5) if a cover week falls badly · guidance, not a pass or fail · page 7

Does staffing follow the trains better?

Partly

closer than today on Saturday and Sunday; weekdays about the same weekday · Sat · Sun 50.4 · 17.3 · 29.2 (today 52.0 · 65.9 · 70.2) · lower is closer · page 5

What it would mean for staff

Likely positives for staff

- About 12 full weekends off a year (today 10), 6 in 26 weeks, never more than 6 weeks apart (today up to 7)
- Never more than 5 days in a row in the fixed duties (today 7)
- Every closing shift about 15 to 45 minutes shorter
- Shortest rest between shifts 13h 50m in the fixed duties (today 12h 30m)
- No avoidable fatigue warnings in the fixed duties (today 4)

More detail on page 2

What colleagues may be concerned about

- More six-day weeks — 3 (today 1)
- More single rest days, which are not a two-day break — about 22 a year each (today 10)
- Up to 10 days in a row if a cover week falls badly (today up to 9)
- More late finishes — about 42 a year each (today 39)
- A cover week worked with Sunday overtime could mean more than 55 hours in seven days (page 7)
- Start times move further from week to week — 4h 06m (today 4h 00m)
- Fewer weeks a year on one shift time, all earlies or all lates — about 14 each (today 18)
- 7 new shift times to learn

AGAINST TODAY'S LINK

What changes, in numbers

Balanced V5's figures are marked against today's 20-week link. ✓ green: better than today on something the rules, hard limits or fatigue guidance aim for, or on a plain gain such as full weekends off or the fit to the trains · ▲ amber: worse on one of those · ✕ red: a rule or limit broken · unshaded: a fact, or for colleagues to weigh.

The words on this page

Link — the whole rota: 26 weeks laid out as 26 lines. Everyone works line 1, then line 2, and so on round the wheel; the link needs 26 people.

Line — one week of the pattern, Sunday to Saturday. Everyone moves down a line each week, and line 26 goes back to line 1.

Turn — a shift time, such as 06:20–13:35. An early starts before 11:00; a late starts at 11:00 or later.

Rest day (RD) — a day off inside the contracted week. Two together give a longer break, always more than 48 hours. One on its own usually gives less, though the hours off depend on the shifts either side.

Cover (spare) week — a week with no fixed times. Whoever is on it works four duties, Monday to Saturday, placed by the roster clerk to cover leave and sickness; its Sunday can be overtime on top.

Sunday — not part of the contract. A Sunday duty is rest-day working, paid on top of the week, which is why the hours are shown Mon–Sat and all week.

The contract — 35 hours a week, averaged over the 26 lines; a cover week counts as a full contracted week.

One-turn week — one clock time Monday to Friday, with every day of the week an early or every day a late (shown bold in the Turns column); the easiest kind of week to live around.

The floor — staff out on the station (gates, concourse, platforms); the ticket office joins it only at the quiet ends (page 5).

Opener / closer — the first people on duty in the morning and the last at night.

People on each shift time on a Saturday, a Sunday and — under Mon–Fri — the weekday with most of that time, so Mon–Fri can add up to more than work on one day. (+2) and (−1): more or fewer people on that time than today — a difference, not a verdict. New: nobody works it today. Dropped: worked today, not in this link.

Monday to Friday add up to 36,950 minutes of duty and Saturday 7,150 — together exactly 44,100 minutes — 35 hours for each of the 21 working weeks, the contract (a cover week counts as a full 35-hour week on top). Sunday adds 5,010, paid on top of the contracted week. 7 of the 16 shift times are new — nobody works them today.

STAFFING THROUGH THE DAY

People on duty, hour by hour

Today's link and the proposal, hour by hour, against the December 2026 timetable. A darker orange hour carries more of the day's trains.

How closely the floor follows the trains	Weekdays	Saturday	Sunday
Today's link	52.0	65.9	70.2
Balanced V5	50.4	✓ 17.3	✓ 29.2

The floor follows the trains more closely than today on Saturday and Sunday, about as closely as today on weekdays — scores weekdays about the same as today's, Saturday about a quarter of today's, Sunday about two-fifths of today's. Lower is closer; 0 is a perfect match.

People on duty in that hour — darker blue is more. Anyone on for any part of the hour counts, so a handover counts both people.

Read down each column: the most people should be under the darkest orange.

Trains — carriages arriving and leaving in that hour; darker is busier. A guide from the timetable, not passenger numbers.

Strongest rows: the floor and the trains — the two the match compares.

Good to know

- The ticket office. In the proposal, two people on every ticket-office shift, and not floor cover except at the quiet ends: Monday to Saturday one of each pair is on the floor until 08:00 and from 19:30, so the office row drops to 1 in those hours and the floor row gains one; where it shows 4, both pairs are there at the changeover. On a Saturday its lates stay until 22:30, to cash up after it shuts at 22:10; today's roster has them leaving at 22:00. The "of whom" rows take the office out of each side, so the floor rows compare like with like.
- Sunday. One early is on the floor until 09:00; the two lates are on the floor until 15:00, then both in the office — at least 30 minutes' handover — and one goes back to the floor from 18:00, the other at 22:00, once the office has shut at 21:40 and cashed up; a late that runs to 22:30 spends its last half hour on the floor. Today one of the three 14:30–23:25 closers keeps the office until 22:00, so in the 16:00 and 17:00 hours today's office row reads 1 where the proposal's reads 2 (the 15:00 hour also counts the earlies finishing), and from 22:00 neither has anyone in the office.
- Reading the match. The weekday figure at the top is worked out from the five weekdays together, not averaged from the day scores. It measures shape, not numbers — each hour's share of the day's staff against its share of the day's trains — so an extra person in a quiet hour makes it worse even though nobody is worse off. Read it beside the numbers of people, never alone.
- Cover weeks. They are not in these figures, because their times are not known yet; actual staffing depends on where those duties are used.
- Sunday's last trains. On Sundays five trains in the December 2026 timetable arrive or leave after the 23:25 finish (the last at 23:54); the bar under the Sunday 23:00 hour marks the time after the finish. No duty runs past 23:25 on a Sunday — that is agreed practice and stays so (settled 28 Sep 2026) — so those trains fall outside the staffed day of any link, today's included.

THE RULES

Hard limits and the December 2026 rules

Three hard limits a rota must meet to be run at all, and the ceiling of 219 contracted days a year, then the nine December 2026 staffing rules, each with today's link beside it.

Hard limits — met, or the rota cannot be run

MOST DAYS IN A ROW

✓ met · longest possible · limit 13 · today 9 · fixed duties 5 (today 7)

Longest possible run is 10 days, within Chiltern's limit of 13. A cover week is 4 duties on Monday to Saturday, placed by the roster clerk, and its Sunday can be worked as overtime on top, so this is the worst case the link allows. Worked as a block of four rather than split day-on-day-off, the worst case is the same — 10 days. It does depend on where the roster clerk puts the four, and on the Sunday: placed well, with no Sunday overtime, the longest run is 5 days.
The written source of the 13-day limit is still to be confirmed.

SHORTEST REST BETWEEN SHIFTS

13h 50m

✓ met · in the fixed duties · limit 12h · today 12h 30m

Tightest anywhere: 13h 50m — line 12 Thu 08:00–16:30 into Fri 06:20–14:20 (today's tightest: 12h 30m).

THE CONTRACT

35h 00m

✓ met · a week, Monday to Saturday, on average · must be exact · 218.6 contracted days a year, 219 at most 735h of duty a week across 21 working lines. Sunday duties (83h 30m in all) are paid on top as rest-day working, as they are today. Individual weeks range 24h 30m–42h 55m; only the average is the contract.

FATIGUE CHECKS

Fatigue checks

From the Office of Rail and Road's good-practice guidance, Fatigue Factors, page 3 (December 2021): 21 roster patterns that tend to tire people, with 4 checks from the rail industry's fatigue guidance (MRSF). ⚠ present — worth a look, not a breach · ✓ clear · ● standing — comes with the station's hours or any weekly link.

AVOIDABLE FATIGUE WARNINGS

STANDING — COME WITH EVERY WEEKLY LINK

2 early starts at a 06:20 station, and a rotation that moves everyone one line a week · recorded, not counted

For each of the 25 patterns this table asks whether it is in the rotation, today and proposed, and how big it is. A design showing nothing is not thereby approved: this is guidance, not a fatigue risk assessment.

- Standing factors (●) are recorded for information, not counted. FF2 comes with the station's 06:20 open, and FF18 — the ORR's concern with a rotation that changes shift type about once a week (Managing rail staff fatigue, 7.68) — comes with every weekly link, which moves everyone one line a week by construction; its week-to-week step is shown as information.
- How to read the table. Each mark and figure is for the duties the rota fixes, the cover weeks left out because their duties are not known yet, for today's link as for the proposal. Where a cover week's four duties could make a row worse, "up to" beneath it gives the worst place they could fall. FF2, FF7, FF8b and FF15 use the ORR's early, a start from 05:00 to 06:59, not this sheet's 11:00. FF11 counts shifts between two-day breaks: two rest days together, always over 48 hours off. A single rest day is not counted even when it gives 48 hours, so FF11 can only overstate a run, and can exceed the most days worked in a row.
- Cover weeks. A cover week's four duties can fall on Monday to Saturday in different ways, and its Sunday can be worked as overtime on top; on this design that moves the most days worked in a row (5 if placed well, with no Sunday overtime), the run of 8-hour shifts (5 if placed well, with no Sunday overtime), the run of early starts in FF15 (4 if placed well, with no Sunday overtime), FF11 (19 at worst, 9 if the four are worked together with no Sunday overtime) and the 55-hour row, which counts a cover week as no hours: 50h 55m placed well with no Sunday worked to 58h 35m placed badly with it, taking each duty as 8 hours, which would make it present (60h 30m with the four contracted duties at 8h 45m, the contract's 35 hours, and the Sunday at 8 hours). Where the four fall, and whether the Sunday is worked, are for the roster office. This page is an aid to discussion, not a fatigue risk assessment.

THE METHOD

Can I trust these numbers?

How firm each figure is, what it is based on, and what no rota can tell you.

Firm

Worked out exactly from the rota, and checked again by the app:

- the rest gaps and the most days in a row
- the 35-hour contract
- full weekends off
- how many people are on duty, hour by hour
- the shift times and their lengths

A guide, not a verdict

Useful for comparing, never a pass or a fail:

- how closely the floor follows the trains
- the fatigue warnings — guidance from the rail regulator
- how familiar the shift times are
- figures "each, a year" — the fixed duties only, the cover weeks left out

Not known yet

No rota can say these; they are for the people who work it and the managers who roster it:

- where each cover week's four duties fall
- how leave and sickness land
- whether staff accept the new shift times
- Wembley event days — the rota follows the trains, not the crowds
- who starts on which line
- the written source of the 13-day limit

What each figure is based on

Where the figures come from Every figure is worked out from the rota on page 3, by the Marylebone Roster app's own checks where it has them and by the tooling beside them for the rest, and the same calculation is run on today's link. Only the one-line description under the name is written by hand.

Cover weeks

Each is marked on all seven days but worked on four, Monday to Saturday, placed by the roster clerk; its Sunday can be worked as overtime on top. A cover week counts as a full contracted week and as four days at work. Its shift times are not known yet, so the runs, rest gaps, yearly counts and fatigue warnings are worked out on the fixed duties — the cover weeks left out, and today's link the same way. Where a cover week's four duties could make a figure worse, the worst place they could fall, with its Sunday worked, is given beside it as "up to", and the hard limits are tested at that worst case. Whatever is later given in a cover week must still be rostered within the normal limits.

Sundays

Sunday is not in the contract: Sunday duties are overtime, as today. So "days at work" and the 35-hour week are Monday to Saturday. A Sunday off costs no annual leave.

Each person, a year

Every week's duties, times 52, shared across everyone on the link — Sunday overtime included. "Days at work a year" is Monday to Saturday only: the days a week × 365 ÷ 7. Fifty-two weeks are exactly two turns of this link, so these are everyone's figures whichever week they start on; today's are averages over its 20 weeks.

Following the trains

For each hour, the share of the day's floor staff is set against the share of the day's train service in the December 2026 timetable, each train weighted by its length; the differences are squared — so one big mismatch counts far more than several small ones — added up and multiplied by 10,000. 0 would be a perfect match; lower is closer. The staff share uses the minutes each person spends on the floor, finer than the whole-person counts on page 5, where anyone on for part of an hour counts. It measures the shape of the day, not a staffing level: an extra person in a quiet hour makes it worse although nobody is worse off. The ticket office is taken out first: it is staffed to its opening hours, not to the trains, which is why its rows on page 5 carry no match figure.

The ticket office

In the proposal, two people on every ticket-office shift, not floor cover except at the quiet ends: Monday to Saturday one of each pair is on the floor until 08:00 and from 19:30. On a Sunday one early is on the floor until 09:00; the two lates until 15:00, then both in the office, one back on the floor from 18:00 and the other from 22:00, once the office has shut at 21:40 and cashed up; a late that runs to 22:30 spends its last half hour on the floor. On a Saturday the lates stay until 22:30 to cash up after it shuts at 22:10 (today's roster: 22:00). Today one person keeps the office on a Sunday afternoon and evening, until 22:00.

Rest, runs and weekends

The shortest gap is the single tightest one in the fixed duties, Saturday into Sunday and line into line included. The most days in a row counts Sunday overtime too; it is given for the fixed duties, with "up to" where a cover week placed as badly as it can be, its Sunday worked, would make it longer, and the 13-day limit is tested at that worst case. A full weekend off is a Saturday off then a Sunday off. The shortest gap is one gap: a rota with many rests of just over 12 hours reads the same as one with none.

Handover

The overlap when one shift takes over from another. The December rules ask for 15 minutes to each closer, and 20 in the ticket office (30 on a Sunday) — page 6.

Familiar shift times

How many of the shift times somebody already works today — a rough guide to how much there is to learn, not to what staff will accept.

Fatigue warnings

The Office of Rail and Road's good-practice list of roster patterns that tend to tire people, with four rail-industry checks. A warning is a question to discuss, not a breach, and this is not a fatigue risk assessment. Early starts at a 06:20 station and a weekly rotation come with every link, today's included, so they are recorded on page 7 and not counted. In the ORR's checks an early start is one from 05:00 up to 06:59 and a "block" of earlies is two or more in a row; the start-time rows count how many times a start moves by more than two hours (a count, not hours); the week-to-week move is the average change in a week's mean start time, Sundays included and cover weeks left out.

What is confirmed

The December 2026 staffing levels and the Sunday cover were confirmed verbally on 29 Sep 2026; the 26-line link, 5 cover weeks and the ceiling of 219 contracted days a year were set on 1 Oct 2026.

The rota is supplied with this PDF, in the pack's import files, as Balanced-V5-MB-26-V5-import.txt, ready to paste into the Links page (Import), which re-runs the hard limits, the fatigue checks, the weekends, the hours and the hour-by-hour staffing on it — giving the runs at their worst case, which pages 2 and 7 give as "up to" — though not the December rules or the yearly figures, which are this sheet's. The fingerprint ded4a15f in every footer is worked out from the 182 days of the rota and nothing else, so a printout always matches the design it came from.
