Not the only good option — it trades a little train fit for familiar, shorter shifts.

What colleagues will notice

The good and the not so good — the colleague presentation shows both

Likely to welcome

- 6 full weekends off in 24 (today 4 in 20)
- At most 6 days in a row (today 9)
- Every closing shift 30–45 minutes shorter
- 9 of the 15 shift times already worked
- Shortest rest 14h20 (today 12h30)

Likely to worry about

- 59 finishes at 23:00 or later a year each (today 39)
- 6 new shift times to learn
- Average shift 6 minutes longer
- Best 14-day leave stretch 28 days, not 30
- Four weeks off takes 15 days' leave, not 14

Expect late finishes to be the first question — the colleague deck answers it openly.

Where it stands

Three things confirmed, two decisions left

Staffing levels — confirmed

The eleven December rules. Everything here is built on them.

24 people on the link — confirmed

Four more than today.

Sunday cover — confirmed

Ten on a Sunday, worked as overtime, as today.

To decide: which link is adopted

Familiar Nine is one of four that meet every rule. Colleagues' views come first.

Then: who goes on which line

Who starts on which week of the link.
